The Justice Information Services (CJIS) Division of the FBI is responsible for storing fingerprints and related information on the Identity History Summary for the nation and does not have the power to modify the information on the Identity History Summary If not expressly notified by the agency holding information. If you believe that your summary History of identity contains inaccurate or incomplete information, you have two possibilities to request a change or correction: Option 1: Contact the agency or agencies that have sent information to the FBI. Missing or incorrect (non-federal) information Most of the States require that changes to the history of synthetic information identity are processed through the respective centralized Central Agency (State Identification before any changes to the information can be made. You can contact the respective State Identification Bureau for assistance and, if applicable, ask them to provide the FBI with updates on your Identity History Summary. Contact information for each is provided in the list of the State Identification Office. Several states maintain their record system. Record Updates are only made at the state level, so the FBI can't change its records. Instead, the FBI accesses the state system for authorized purposes to review the record. Contact information for states that maintain state-level records is provided in the record list maintained by the state. ã Federal information missing or incorrect for updates to the synthesis of the history of the federal identity, the FBI must receive a request directly from the original arrest agency, a court with arrest data control or another agency with arrest data control. ã Option 2: Send a written challenge request to the CJIS division of FBI. Your written request should clearly identify the information you consider is inaccurate or incomplete and should include copies of any test or support documentation available to support the request. For example, if the information is incorrect or missing, you can send documentation obtained by the Court having control over the arrest or office that pursues the crime. The FBI will contact the appropriate agencies in an attempt to verify or correct the items challenged for you. Upon receipt of an official communication from the Agency with data control, the FBI will make appropriate changes and notify the result. It is possible to present a summary challenge of identity history to the CJIS division of the FBI by writing to the following address: FBI CJIS Warning Division: Crime history Team 1 1000 Custer Hollow Road Clarksburg, WV 26306For further information: <https://www.fbi.gov/services/cjis/identity-history-summary-checks> Brochures of applicant rights:
